

21) Never does the Koran say to follow Prophet Mohammad's sayings (Ahadith) after his death, but to only follow the Koran and the books before the Koran (the Bible).

Not only the Koran never commands the Muslim people to record Mohammad's saying and follow it after his death, but continuously claims that Mohammad must rule according to the Koran only.

Koran 50:45 We are fully aware of everything they utter, while you have no power over them. Therefore, remind with this Koran, those who reverence My warnings.

Koran 5:48 And We have revealed to you the Book with the truth, verifying what is before it of the Book and a guardian over it, therefore judge between them by what God has revealed ...

Koran 5:49 You shall rule among them in accordance with God's revelations to you. ...

Koran 6:70 You shall disregard those who take their religion in vain, as if it is a social function, and are totally absorbed in this worldly life. Remind with this (Koran), lest a soul may suffer the consequences of its evil earnings. ...

The Koran also claims that the only guidance given to Mohammad to pass to Arabic people is the Koran and it does not refer to any Hadith (which means sayings) that must be accepted by Muslims. However the Koran does make reference to Hadith (please note below):

Koran 45:7 These are God's revelations that we recite to you truthfully. In which Hadith other than God and His revelations do they believe?

Koran 77:49 Woe on that day to the rejectors. 50 Which Hadith, other than this, do they uphold?

Koran 31:5 Among the people, there are those who uphold baseless Hadith, and thus divert others from the path of God without knowledge, and take it in vain. These have incurred a shameful retribution.
